PEARY RETURNS FROM POLAR EXPEDITION

The Roosevelt Reaches Cape Breton After A Year In The Ice

Sydney, C.B., Nov. 22.—Peary's steamer the Roosevelt, reached here today and on arriving at the anchorage Peary boarded a tug and came ashore to meet Mrs. Peary, who has been waiting here for the past two weeks. He appeared in excellent health and none the worse for his perilous experience up north. His companions are also in good health and spirits. Peary still believes the North Pole can be reached and so is Captain Bartlett. Shortly after the ship for the pole at 84 degrees 34 minutes was begun, a gale, the equal of which had never been experienced by any of the party, sprang up and lasted for eight days. This broke connection between the supporting parties and had Marv and Clarke been able to bring up supplies which would have lasted 125 days Captain Bartlett has no doubt whatever they would have reached the pole and would have returned to the point of meeting within forty days. Dr. Wolff, medical officer, had not the slightest doubt Peary's system was the best and that following it the pole would be reached. The strike at Hopdale is confirmed by the crew, who insisted on remaining at that point until repairs were made. This was done but the ship leaked almost as bad as before. The statement that the men were badly treated is denied, although provisions were short. The first of January she lost the rudder in the ice crush. The crew will be paid off here. Peary and his wife will go to New York by train.

THE JURY DISAGREED

And The Winnipeg Bar-Tenders Must Stand A New Trial

Bulletin Special.
Winnipeg, Nov. 22.—Thos. Powers and Alex. Savage, the two bar tenders charged with causing the death of Thomas Humphreys at the Stock Exchange hotel, on Oct. 6, will have to stand another trial. The jury failed to agree on the manslaughter charge brought against the two young men and were discharged. His lordship, Mr. Justice Pender, in ordering a new trial expressed regret that the twelve good men and true had been unable to reach a verdict. His lordship pointed out the extreme gravity of the situation and explained that a new trial would mean an expense of $80 a day to the province, apart from the inconvenience ensuing to all concerned. His lordship said he could only call it a "great calamity." The jury were asked if his lordship could assist them in any way by explaining the points of the case over again, but the jury of twelve maintained a profound silence. The prisoners were then bound over to come up daily during the present and following assizes, Powers in his own recognizance of $2,000, and in one of the same amount found by W. H. Barry. Savage in his own recognizance of $200. As far as could be learned after the trial a majority of the jury insisted on conviction. From the very moment they retired there never was the least prospect of agreement.

MR. HYMAN RESIGNS
Bulletin Special.
Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 22.—Speaker Sullivan announced today that Mr. Hyman had sent in his resignation of his seat but that it was not made out in correct form. It is the intention however, of Mr. Hyman to resign his seat and he will no doubt again contest London at an early day. Meanwhile he has gone south to recuperate on account of ill health. Pleading, Demers and Tormie, Liberals, Marshall, White, Conservatives, and Robitaille, Independents, were introduced, the latter by Bourassa and Lavergne. There was a large attendance at the opening ceremonial in the Senate. The debate on the address has commenced and will take place tomorrow in the Senate. Monday Senator Jaffray will move the address in the Senate and Senator Roy of Edmonton will second it.

SENATOR KERR DEAD
Hon. Wm. Kerr, M.A., LL.D., K.C., Senator, died last night in Toronto. The late Senator Kerr was a son of Francis W. Kerr, Enniskillen, Ireland. He was born at Ameliasburg, Ont., in 1863. He was educated at Victoria University and was mayor of Cobourg for six years. He was also vice-chancellor of Victoria University and a member of the Law Society of Ontario. From 1874 to 1878 he represented West Northumberland in the House of Commons being defeated in the general elections of 1878. In 1888 he married Miss Myra J. Field, daughter of the late John Field, of Cobourg. He was called to the Senate in 1899. The Hon. Senator Kerr was the father of Mrs. Duncan W. Macdonald, of this city.

KILLED BY LIVE WIRE

Employee of Hamilton Steel and Iron Co. Met Sudden Death

Bulletin Special.
Toronto, Nov. 22.—Thomas Vendetta, who lived at 167 MacNab street, north Hamilton, died as the result of a shock he received at the blast furnace of the Hamilton Steel and Iron Co., this morning. He was employed as teamster and touched a live wire.

SASKATOON COAL SHORTAGE

Saskatoon Phoenix: "One hundred cars of coal are required to set Saskatoon right just now in the matter of a winter's fuel," observed a local dealer to a Phoenix representative yesterday evening.

"How are things looking in the fuel line, anyway?" asked the news man.

"Well, it's just pretty bad," returned the coal man with a still more expressive adjective just before the "bad." "There are scores of houses and other buildings in town out of coal or next thing to out and there's not in the whole town a pound of coal in stock—but just excuse me a minute till I answer that telephone call."

There is a measure of hope in the bosoms of local dealers arising out of the recent settlement of the Fernie strike, but they all express the belief that no person will be privileged to get a cellar full at one time for the demand is heavy throughout the west and the mines will not send out anything like the full orders. Where six cars may be required he's a lucky dealer who can get one car and the prospects for increasing this are at the present time remote.

Local representatives for the Galt coal say that while the demand on them would not be fully met on anything less than a car a day, they don't offer any dull rhythmic wavy have had to put up with only three cars during the entire fall and they don't offer any comforting assurances of early relief. Coal from the other western mines struggle in a car at a time, but it scarcely has time to ask about the location of the G. T. P. depot or the price of Second avenue property before it is smuggled off to somebody's furnace.

EIRUIRO WAS FOUND GUILTY

Italian Convicted Of Murder By Port Arthur Jury—Slater Found Not Guilty

Bulletin Special.
Port Arthur, Nov. 22.—The jury in the case of the crown against Eiruiro, an Italian charged with the murder of a fellow countryman in April last, returned a verdict of guilty. The crime was committed at the conclusion of a game of cards, but there was no evidence to show that Eiruiro, the murdered man, had done anything further than to invite Eiruiro outside.

The charge of murder against Slater, the crown alleged, was guilty of causing the death of a man named Young, on the steamer "Monarch" in June last, was practically changed to manslaughter. The evidence was not by any means conclusive and tended to show that Young had attacked Slater earlier in the day. Young's death was caused by hemorrhage of the brain through the eye, the wound being caused by a puncture. There was no evidence to show that Slater had inflicted the wound and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

But Took An Overdose Of Carbolic Acid And Is In The Cells

Bulletin Special.
Brandon, Man., Nov. 22.—While in a fit of despondency last evening Albert Taylor, a young Englishman living in a boarding house here, took a dose of carbolic acid with suicidal intent. The amount taken by him, however, proved too small. When his condition was ascertained by another boarder a doctor was at once summoned. When the lad recovered, he expressed regret for his action and was very patient, but today he intimated that he would make another attempt, and he was handed over to the police. He is now in the cells at the police station and will be examined as to his sanity.

CONSPIRATOR CONFESSED

Bulletin Special.
St. Petersburg, Nov. 22.—A dispatch received here from Astrakhan today reported the discovery of a plot to kill Governor-General Sokoloff and the arrest of the terrorists implicated. The Governor-General was awakened at night by an unknown man who said he had been detailed, with several companions to kill him on the following day, but that tortured by his conscience he had determined to abandon any participation in the plot. Sokoloff immediately investigated the man's statement and caused the arrest of all the terrorists implicated.

MAN DIES FROM DRINKING FORMALIN

Chief Clerk of Superintendent Carey Of The C.N.R. Meets An Untimely End

George Brennan, chief clerk to Superintendent Carey, of the C. N. R., died on Wednesday evening about 9 o'clock at the isolation hospital from the effects of drinking formalin. The body has been removed to the Alberta undertaking parlors on First street, awaiting instructions from Winnipeg, where the family of the deceased live.

The circumstances connected with Brennan's death are tragic. About a week ago he was taken to the hospital for treatment. There was no room in the city or general hospitals, consequently he was sent to the isolation hospital. After a few days he seemed to have fully recovered although in a state of despondency. He wrote to the officials of the railway here that he would soon be out. On Tuesday evening he went to bed, but some time during the night rose and drank the formalin. The nurse immediately gave him an emetic of sweet oil and called Dr. Braithwaite, the medical health officer, and Dr. Hyslop, who was the physician in attendance and who promptly responded to the call. An attempt was made to empty the stomach of the formalin.

The patient rallied and was able to speak with the nurse during the day. About 9 o'clock the nurse went to his apartment to give him some egg nog as ordered, when she found the patient dead.

It is also learned that previously Brennan while delicious, seized a bottle of chloral and drank it. The chloral was being used by the nurse to put him to sleep. The nurse was called to the telephone and while away Brennan took the chloral and was saved from the effects of the drug by preventive remedies.

The deceased was about 38 years of age. For ten years he was associated with the C. P. R. at Winnipeg. A year ago he became chief clerk to Mr. Abbott, and when Mr. Abbott's position was taken by Mr. Carey Brennan remained as clerk. He leaves a wife and three children at Winnipeg. The facts in connection with Brennan's death were submitted to Deputy Attorney General Woods this morning, who agrees with Dr. Hyslop, the physician attending Brennan, that a coroner's inquest will be unnecessary.

Formalin or formaldehyde, is a gas dissolved in water and is a powerful antiseptic, disinfectant and deodorant. It resembles alcohol, of which it is an oxidized form of methyl alcohol. Although a poison, it is not on the list of poisons sold by druggists, for which a certificate is necessary.

WORLD'S MARKETS

(Reported by Canadian Stock and Grain Co., Calgary Block, Edmonton.)
Daily Market Letter

Winnipeg.—The pounding of the bears yesterday was successful and a net decline of one cent resulted. The break was orderly and was scored only after a hard battle the bulls having supporting orders in the market and at times were apparently in control. Liverpool was a weakening feature today. Paris and Continental markets were inclined to be weak also. The news as a whole was rather bullish and northwestern receipts including Winnipeg 723 cars against 1152 a year ago. Minneapolis stocks decreased 60,000 bushels for the five days past. Minneapolis flour shipments heavy at 68,353 bbls and cash wheat was in excellent demand in spite of weakness in the futures, the big premiums were maintained for the cash market. Primary receipts 761,060 against 913,900 bushels last year and 1,004,000 a year ago. Shipments 724,000 bushels against 748,000 last week and 255,000 a year ago. Clearances wheat and flour 140,000 bushels. Prices have had a good start back and as the consensus of opinion is to the effect that May wheat is legitimately worth more than present prices it would seem that purchases made now or on any little dips would prove very profitable.

RINK OPENING

Owing to the milder weather the Strathcona rink will not open this evening. There is a fair sheet of ice already, but the management will put it in the best possible shape before beginning the skating season.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

For the first time in some months the Strathcona General Hospital is not at present taxed to its utmost capacity, there being now only thirteen patients while the building will contain fifteen without crowding. There are four typhoid patients, but all are recovering. The new nurses' cottage will be erected to the east of the main building in about three weeks time.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL

Another large real estate deal was completed yesterday when the present post office building, owned by Mr. W. L. Parrish, of Winnipeg, was sold to Douglas Bros. for the sum of $10,000. The sale was effected through the agency of Mr. O. Bush, real estate agent. The property in question has a frontage of forty-five feet on Whyte Avenue and a two-story brick building stands on the land. The stores are occupied by the post office, J. A. Connelly, real estate agent, and McComb's hardware store and there are also a number of offices upstairs. The property is one of the most centrally located on the business street of the town and will, it is understood, be held by the purchaser as an investment.

LOCALS

Mrs. (Rev.) C. W. Corey returned last night from Wetaskiwin.

—Mr. A. McLean is expected to return this evening from a business trip to Winnipeg.

—An abusive language case between two women, came up at the police court this morning.

—The new residence being erected by Mr. O. Bush in the northeast corner of the city on the road to Edmonton is fast approaching completion and it is expected will be ready for occupancy by the end of the year.

Mr. McIntyre, immigration agent, is enjoying a well earned holiday after a summer spent in the west. During his absence the land and immigration office is open each day only from 1 till 3.30 o'clock.

A case of diphtheria in which a woman with her four children are living in a tent near the Saskatchewan bridge, without means of sustenance or fuel has been engaging the attention of the town council. The husband is at present ill with typhoid fever in the hospital.

—The afternoon C. P. R. train was over five hours late yesterday owing to a derailment of the mail and express cars at Calgary Junction while passing over the point of the switch. The night train was four hours late, the delay being caused in waiting for connections with the main line, where the snow-storms have greatly retarded the traffic.

SOAP WORKS

Town Council Considering Encouragement To Large Industry

If the hopes of the promoter are realized, and Strathcona gives the encouragement that is asked, this town will have, in the course of a few years, the largest and most up-to-date soap works between Toronto and coast. With the employment of many men, and the distribution of its products throughout this country the proposed manufactory should add greatly to the wealth of Strathcona and bring its name more prominently before all parts of the west.

Mr. C. L. Bailey, of Cobourg, Ont., is the gentleman who proposes to build the plant here and the proposition which he has submitted to the town council has met with their approval to the extent that a by-law incorporating the concessions asked by him will be drawn up and submitted to the electors of the town at an early date. In the meantime a committee from the council will again confer with Mr. Bailey in order to secure some minor amendments to the proposition that has been submitted to the town.

The concessions asked by Mr. Bailey, briefly, are as follows—

First—A free site of at least 150 feet frontage by 132 feet deep, situated where proper sewer and water-works connections can be had, also as near as possible to convenient railway spur.

Second—Water from waterworks at cost supplied to manufacturers generally.

Third—A fixed assessment on the entire stock, plant and buildings of five thousand dollars for the first ten years and ten thousand dollars for the next ten years.

Fourth—A loan of $10,000 for 20 years; first five years without interest, and the second five years to pay the debenture interest the following years to pay one thousand dollars per year, principal and debenture interest until the whole $10,000 and interest is paid, such loan and interest to be advanced as buildings proceed.

Fifth—We propose as security and to safeguard the town against possible loss on the loan, to keep the property and plant insured against loss from fire in favor of the town to the amount of the loan, at our expense, the town to execute conveyance, clear of all incumbrances, placing same in one of the chartered banks at Strathcona to be handed over to us when the above named loan of $10,000, together with the debenture interest, as above stated, has been fully paid.

Sixth—That we have the privilege of paying of the loan entirely or in part at any time when payment of interest is due.

In return for these concessions the firm will at once erect a building 40x60 basement, of cement, two stories, of brick with steam heating throughout. Approximate cost of building, $10,000, other buildings, store rooms, drying rooms, etc., approximate cost, $8,000.

They will employ not less than twenty hands after first six months operating, expecting to increase the number of hands employed to fifty in from one to three years.

Mr. Bailey states that the firm has a paid up capital of $30,000, but as the machinery for the manufacture of soap is expensive and advertising the goods, putting them on the market, etc., takes both time and a large amount of money during the first five or ten years, they feel that they are asking only what they will require from the town in order to locate in Strathcona and be in a position to meet competition and keep up well in the business and to be able to buy their stock in largest quantities and pay cash for the same and have all up to date machinery and other facilities for the manufacture of an up to date article.

Their aim is to make this the largest and most up to date soap works west of Toronto. They will expect to have a plant here in five years worth at least one hundred thousand dollars.

In the event of an agreement with Strathcona they will, weather permitting, start operations at once for building and putting in plant and would wish to start manufacturing within six months from time of commencement of buildings.

BAD STEERING APPARATUS

Bulletin Special.

Quebec, Nov. 22.—Commander Spain, wrecking commissioner of the Marine and Fisheries department, opened the court of inquiry this morning in this city to learn the cause of the grounding of the Dominion Line steamship Kensington, at Matane recently. Captain Morie, master, and several wheelmen of the vessel deposed that the accident was altogether due to the inadequate steering gear of the ship. They said the rudder was too small. The pilot in charge of the vessel at the time deposed that the Kensington was the most difficult ship to handle on account of her rudder that he ever had charge of except the Manchester Enterprise that was lost, and they were both on a par. Commander Spain has reserved decision until next week.

CHILD KIDNAPPED

Bulletin Special.

Flakhill, New York, Nov. 22.—The New York police have been asked by Charles H. Langdon, a New York broker to search for Nellie Jackson, a colored nurse girl who is alleged to have kidnapped Langdon's only daughter, a little child. The nurse-girl with the child left Flakhill at 5 p.m. yesterday and were traced to New York. Miss Jackson, who is about 17 years old was employed in Mr. Langdon's home here. She is said to have been greatly attached to the child. The nurse is also suspected of having taken valuable rings belonging to Mrs. Langdon and $480 in money.

ORIGIN OF BASKETBALL.

Toronto News.—It should be a matter of no little pride for Canadians to know that a student of McGill University and a Canadian, was responsible for the invention of the game of basketball. In the year 1888 Dr. James Naismith, now physical director of the Lawrence University, Kansas, finished a seven years' course in theology and medicine at McGill University, and, upon leaving college, went down to Springfield, Mass., to take a course in the International Y. M. C. A. Training School. Dr. Naismith who was always an enthusiast in physical culture, was director of the McGill gymnasium during several years of his college course, and it was through his efforts that Dr. Tait Mackenzie was secured.

Upon finishing his course at the Training School, Dr. Naismith who graduated with high honors, was offered a position upon the Faculty of the Institution, and accepting it, began lecturing in physiology and anatomy, as well as acting as physical instructor of the gymnasium there. About this time the faculty at Springfield felt the need of a new indoor competition that would keep the largest possible number of men busy in a game having but a small element of danger. In discussing the question, Naismith offered to invent a game and to report on it to the next meeting of the faculty.

There are four essential characteristics of the proposed game, as the doctor thought: First, it must be convenient for playing in a restricted space indoors; second it must allow for the presence of obstructions; third, the element of danger must be as small as possible, and finally, it must provide keen competition.

In thinking over many games, Dr. Naismith came to the conclusion that association football, lacrosse or duck-on-the-rock came nearest to filling the conditions, so as each was impracticable in itself, he decided to combine the best elements of the three. He used the tactics of lacrosse, the ball of association football, and the fixed objective goal from duck-on-the-rock, and at the first attempt the new game proved a decided success and the future of basketball was assured.

During the season of 1889 and 1890 the students of the training school experimented upon improvements to the game before it was finally made known to the public in the spring of 1890. There have been many modifications of the game since its initiation as an indoor sport, but these have in no way effected the original principals as laid down by Dr. Naismith.

Basketball was first played in Canada in 1891 in the Montreal Y.M.C.A., where it was introduced from Springfield by Mr. William Ball, who organized and played on the first Canadian team. In 1892 the first game with a visiting team was played with the University of Burlington, resulting in a win for the Y.M.C.A. by the score of 14-3. In this game Burlington tried most plays and procedures, as in football, but found such tactics of no avail against the fast open game played by Montreal. A return match in Burlington was won by the college by the identical score of the previous game. Since then many United States teams have visited Canada and many trips have been taken across the line, in the majority of games the Canadian aggregations coming off victors.

So great a hold has basketball taken upon the United States that in some States they have gone so far as to organize professional leagues for the game. Practically every university and college has played the game among the foremost of winter sports, and Canada has taken to the game with an almost equal fervor.

The Empire Realty Co. have removed to the corner of McDougall and Jasper avenue, No. 79 McDougall St.

The Alberta college rink will be open to the public on Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5. Admission 25 cents.

The Ladies Musical Club will meet tomorrow, Saturday, Nov. 24th at 4.30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ironside, 763 Fifth street.

Wm. Dupuis was fined $5 and costs in the police court last night for illegal retention of property belonging to Chas. A. Yeomans.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's church will give a parish social in the church on Monday evening next (the 28th) at 8 o'clock. All members of the congregation and their friends are invited. The Harper Quartette will be present, and have prepared a special program for the occasion.

The plan is now open at Archibald's for the concert to be given in the Opera House next Tuesday evening by the Palmist Sisters Orchestra and Concert Company. The appearance made here by this company last year is the greatest reason for the brisk sale of seats that has already begun.

The cricket dance which will in all probability be the last of the season, will be held this evening in the Thistle rink. The rink is beautifully decorated for the occasion. Cards will be provided for those who do not wish to dance. The catering will be done by the proprietors of the Prince Arthur Cafe. Clark's orchestra will furnish the music.

The Canadian Pacific railway announces that their steamship Empress of Ireland will sail from St. John, N.B., Nov. 30th, instead of Dec. 1st, and Empress of Britain, Dec. 14th, instead of Dec. 15th, as hitherto scheduled. These boats will call at Halifax for the mails, but intending passengers should embark at St. John, as the ships will only stop outside Halifax harbour.

Saskatoon Phoenix.—On almost every house to the north side of the city today, like a signal of distress, waves, is also so scarce that householders are sharing with each other the limited supply. In many houses the people are absolutely out of fuel and are breaking up packing cases and odd pieces of lumber. Many strangers in the city have absolutely no show in securing fuel out of the available supply, old timers having hoarded it all a long way ahead.

A STARTLING METAMORPHOSE.

In the publication of Alderman Bellamy's election address the intelligent compositor made one clause read: "I cannot conscientiously say that I have in every case done what in my judgment was considered to be for the best interest of the city at large." The insertion of the little word "not" certainly makes a startling metamorphose in the message which the mayoralty candidate meant to carry, and if Alderman Bellamy should overtake and slay the fiend who juggles the machine, there is not much doubt that a verdict of justifiable homicide would be gladly brought in.

EDMONTON.

For the further convenience of those taking advantage of Eastern excursions and wishing to travel in comfort at moderate rates, the Canadian Pacific railway are running through tourist cars from Strathcona each Monday and Friday. This gives the public a through service to Toronto and Montreal absolutely without change of cars.

PLANS PREPARED FOR PUMPING PLANT.

Plans have been prepared by the city commissioners, and will probably be submitted to the council at tonight's meeting for the extension of the water works system and with it the electric plant.

The plans contemplate the erection of a very much larger pumping station than the present at a point some distance above the city, in Strathcona, and the construction of a water main some three miles long which will cross the river in the neighborhood of the present pumping station and connect with the city system there.

The electric extension plans contemplate that the entire boiler and engine capacity now employed for pumping and the generation of electric energy shall be attached to the electric service alone.

ZINN TRAVESTY CO.

The Zinn Travesty Co. played to a full house last night in the Edmonton opera house. The play was "Two Married Men," in which the parts were taken by Gus Mortimer, and J. W. Clifford as the husbands, and Francis Gray and Cad Franks their wives. Splendid side skits were introduced by Jessie Brown as Ragtime Liz, the Bowers Girl, and her rendition of "He's My Pal" with Andy Budd was natural and very clever.

A number of pretty dances were given the most popular with the audience being the cake walk danced by the girls in the chorus.

Tonight the company will appear in "Teazy Weazy" and "The Beauty, the Sultan of Morocco with matinee. The company includes sixteen dancing girls and effective singers.

HORSE HILLS

The farmers of the Coronation school district held a meeting recently at the home of Mr. Scadding and discussed the question of markets, and decided to ship their grain on their own account from Oliver station.

Mr. Beltrage, of Edmonton, is buying oats in this district and is shipping large quantities east.

Threshing is finished and farmers are preparing to haul coal to Edmonton. Mr. Alex. McKay has put all his teams hauling coal to the city.

Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed by the people of this district at the mail service. The mail is not put off the train on Friday night, making two days mail for Saturday which is thrown off the train on Saturday, and on some days does not reach Horse Hills post office until after midnight, too late for distribution that evening. As a result the mail is three days old when received.

AGREEMENT REACHED.

The commissioners and A. O. Dwyer have reached an agreement regarding the water and light service for the packing plant.

The agreement is not made public yet and will not be before being submitted to the council. It is understood, however, that Mr. Dwyer gets what he asks for, free water and light for five years, and puts up bonds to guarantee the carrying out of his part of the agreement, which is that he will build the packing plant on the scale contemplated in the proposition submitted to the council.

When seen this morning Mr. Dwyer admitted that a satisfactory agreement had been reached, and stated that as soon as the agreement was ratified by the council that things would start to move. Practically all the timber for construction will have to be brought from the Pacific coast and the machinery for the canning and curing plants, the soap factory and the refrigerating plants will have to be brought from the east, mostly from the United States. Orders for all of these will have to be placed at once in order to guarantee delivery in time to commence operations next spring.

The agreement reached by the commissioners and Mr. Dwyer will be submitted to the council tonight.

CITY LEAGUE HOCKEY.

A meeting of the executive of the city hockey league was held last night in the smoking room of the Alberta hotel at which a constitution was adopted. One clause still remains for a later meeting to decide as to whether the league will go into the intermediate class or the junior. Manitoba rules will govern and the president of the league will have the appointing of the referees. There are now nine teams in the city league with more still to be formed. No schedule has yet been adopted.

Correspondence*PACKING PLANT. PROPOSITION.

The city council and meat packing establishment.

The action of the council respecting the above institution was a great disappointment to a large number of our people. No proposition of such magnitude has been submitted to any Canadian municipality in recent years. Not only is the city directly interested by reason of a large number of people employed, but the whole province will be made tributary to the place by it.

The operation of such a plant as proposed would add from 25 to 50 per cent to value of all lands suitable for cultivation within a radius of 100 miles of us. Given a sure and ready market for hogs and cattle the surrounding country would experience a growth and development unthought of. I do not think that the request for free water and light can be treated as a bonus.

The initial outlay in plant is large with the probability of profit the first few years very doubtful. It will take several years for farmers to get stocked up in hogs. The company must find a market for its product. Except for cost of putting in the water estimated at $25,000 at 5 per cent which would make a fixed charge of $1,100 a year, the further cost would depend on volume of business done. Should the plant be run to its full capacity the annual cost would not reach $5,000. As soon as the plant is in operation, that section of the city will become settled, water service will be fulfilled and cost of installation will be provided for immediately.

Let any of our citizens contemplate what it would mean to our city to have 10 to 15 cars of stock arrive every day in the year. Provide a market for the products of the surrounding country and the wholesale trade is forever secure. The retail business is stimulated not only by this largely increased population, but also by the large number of people coming into the city in care of this stock. The business of the banks and clearing houses will be in keeping with other lines and every interest in the city benefited. It is to be hoped that the council will reconsider their former action and grant Mr. Dwyer's full demand.

TARIFF REVISION.

The Dominion Parliament met yesterday in session called for the purpose of revising the tariff. The preliminary which will doubtless determine the tendency of the revision was the tour of investigation of the Tariff Commission. But the real force which has induced the revision was the persistent campaign of the Manufacturers' Association, though the fact of that revision is not likely to be of a character calculated to win the unusually enthusiastic approval of that organization.

The tour of the Tariff Commission last year was a departure almost without precedent in the treatment of the tariff. In "the good old days," when Sir John Macdonald was at the helm the tariff schedules were settled largely at what were known as the "Red Parlor Conferences" in Toronto. There the manufacturers had their interviews with the Premier and the remaining ninety-nine one-hundredths of the Canadian people learned what their tariff was to be from the lips of the finance minister at the following session.

When the present government came into power in 1896 they changed the mode of procedure and previous to the tariff revision of 1897 a tariff commission held sittings at various points. Their time was limited, however and complaints were made that the sittings were held in only a few of the leading cities of Eastern Canada, where the interests and influence of the manufacturers were abnormally strong, and that opportunity had not been given for a fair presentation of the views of that large proportion of the people who are not directly concerned in manufacturing.

Last year, however, the commission extended its tour and went so widely afield that every man in Canada, whatever his occupation, and wherever his residence, had an opportunity of laying his views before the body. Very literally "The commission went to the people," and went, too, in the manner best calculated to get the views of the people. The sittings were held in public, were advertised in advance and were entirely free from ceremonial red tape, which might have obstructed the presentation of evidence. This evidence was recorded in shorthand and forms an immensely valuable volume of first-hand information of the industrial and social conditions of Canada in the opening years of Canada's century. This evidence, doubtless, will determine the character of the present revision of the tariff.

The tariff revision of 1897 granted a preference to British-made goods and this in turn brought the Canadian Manufacturers' Association on to the war-path. So long accustomed to framing the country's tariff policy to suit themselves they regarded it as something akin to an insult that the government should presume to interfere with the fiscal arrangement they had appointed for the Canadian people. This new-found impudence must be promptly stopped. They denounced the government and all its works and concentrated all their influence in Parliament and out of it into a campaign against the fiscal policy in general, with the main attacks delivered over and always on the British preference.

The Opposition members in the House were found quite as ready spokesmen for the manufacturers' troubles, as the Opposition press in the country, and by dexterous and unlimited use of these vehicles it was made to appear that the demand of the association was growing into a cause which demanded attention from the Government and the country. In this way the Manufacturers' Association generated a supposed expression of public opinion, which undoubtedly forced the matter of tariff revision on Parliament.

By the time the Tariff Commission had concluded its sittings the Association had probably discovered its mistake and the members of that organization are probably wishing now that they had left well enough alone, for the hearings disclosed among the farmers of every Canadian province a strong sentiment against any additional protection to Canadian manufacturers and an equally strong sentiment in favor of the British preference. This was one of the unpleasant discoveries the manufacturers made during the inquiry and the climax was completed when the commission happened to hold a session in Toronto at the psychological time when the Provincial Crown Prosecutor discovered that in Ontario there were seventy combines in restraint of trade. This was a calamity of no ordinary proportions for at every previous sitting of the commission at which association members had appeared asking for more protection they had assured the board that there was a sufficiently keen competition within the country to prevent an elevation of prices.

There is certainly nothing in the preliminary appearances to indicate that the attempt of the Manufacturers' Association to shush the British preference and stampede the Government into tariff elevation will derive any encouragement from the revision of the present session.

LAWYERS IN POLITICS.

Some time ago Mr. Shepard, an eminent New York lawyer, delivered an address on the declining influence of his profession in public affairs. An obvious explanation is that this is due for a change in the nature of public issues. In the early history of the United States constitutional questions occupied a prominent place. A constitution had to be framed, and afterwards adapted to the changing circumstances of a growing country. In the first half of the nineteenth century there was continual discussion as to "State rights," as to where the line should be drawn between the central and local authority. Slavery made this a live question; and when the war broke out the doctrine of State's rights was pushed to the point of contention that the slave States had a right to secede. In these discussions, lawyers as might have been expected took a very prominent part. The latest biography of Lincoln lays stress on the importance of his legal training. His famous series of debates with Douglas were largely upon constitutional questions.

Constitutional questions do not now occupy so large a place in the public attention. Affairs of State, says Harper's Weekly, have lately been largely confined to comment on the personal character of politicians, or stories of the public service of law politicians, and to try the works in the courts of justice. The presence of lawyers is not now so important as that of economists, publicists, and business men.

The passing of the constitutional lawyer as a great figure in public affairs may be greatly due to the coming of the cheap newspaper. The cheapening of newspapers meant the bringing into the circle of readers of a large class of people who are not interested in constitutional questions or abstract questions of any kind. The popular papers with large circulations deal in concrete facts of human interest, and in sharp, often personal, comment. Long dissertations on constitutional questions are discarded as sleepy and antiquated.

In Canada we have passed through a similar experience. The early questions were constitutional questions—responsible government, representation by population, the secularization of the clergy reserves. Confederation introduced a new set of constitutional questions, especially the limits of the central and local authorities. Mowat's victories were won in the field; Blake and Mills also made a way of the constitution. To-day we hear little of these constitutional questions. The question that seems to overshadow all others is the relation of private corporations to the State. The lawyers who are now in the public eye are not constitutional lawyers but corporation lawyers, commercial lawyers, criminal lawyers. They are engaged in such work as the prosecution or defence of combines, investigations into the affairs of insurance companies, banks, and other commercial concerns.

From this it will be seen, not that the lawyer fills a less important place in public affairs, but that the nature of his duties has changed. Hearst pays a large salary to a lawyer who hunts the trusts and other public enemies that are exposed in his newspapers. President Roosevelt finds plenty of work for lawyers like Root to do. Hughes was chosen by the Republicans largely because of his professional work in conducting the famous investigation. Root, in supporting Hughes, said that there were reforms to be carried out, and abuses to be remedied; that no mere agitator could do these duties, but that they required the hard, patient, skilled work of a lawyer.

There is plenty of work and plenty of room for the lawyer in public affairs. We need a cheaper and simpler administration of justice, and this duty calls for a man who knows the law thoroughly. It is broad and progressive enough to break away from the prejudices and traditions of his calling. There is need in Governments and legislative bodies of lawyers who thoroughly understand corporation law and who are fitted to cope with those employed by the corporations. It is natural that the corporations should seek the best legal aid; but lawyers should be willing to accept these lucrative places. But there ought to be lawyers, equally gifted, at the service of the whole people.

FROM DAY TO DAY

ENCORE!

Say not the struggle naught availed,
The labor and the wounds are vain,
The enemy faints not, nor falls,
And as things have been they remain.

If hopes were dunes fears may be flares
It may be, in yon smoke concealed,
Your comrades chase e'en now the fill ers.

And, but for you, possess the field.
For when the tired waves, vainly breaking,
Seem here no painful inch to gain,
Far back, through creeks and inlets making,
Comes silent, flooding in, the main.

And not by eastern windows only,
When daylight comes, comes in the light,
In front the sun climbs slow, how slowly,
But westward, look the land is bright.

—Arthur Hugh Clough.

GAME FOR EVENING PARTY

As the evenings grow longer and longer the informal small parties to come more popular. There must be a tendency in a city of Edmonton's size, however, to find these parties just a bit monotonous by reason of meeting the same people so often.

The thought suggests a remedy—why not be somebody else just for the evening?

Pin a slip of paper, on which is written the name of some celebrity on the back of each guest just as he enters the drawing-room, and to explain that each one is to converse with the other as though they were the person whose name they bear. The object is to guess who you represent yourself.
S. Lendell can be had if one enters into the spirit of the game, asking questions which confuse as well as enlighten.

Another old game in the form of a guessing contest is good. The hostess supplies each guest with pencil and paper,
and seating herself at the piano, at certain intervals, one bar from a number of popular pieces or well-known hymns. The constant guessing the guesses number of course wins.

CANADIAN PRIMA DONNA

Montreal is extending a royal welcome to a Canadian prima donna, a soprano, who ranks with Mei-ba. Two years ago that city received news of the sensation created at Nice by the debut in Grand Opera of Pauline Donalda (Miss Pauline Lightstone, a young Hebrew girl of Montreal).

Only two years previously she had as a crude girl of nineteen sung a love voice, set out for Paris to complete her vocal studies begun at the Royal Victoria college (the Donalda annex to McGill).

As that big-hearted Canadian, Lord Strathcona, had helped the young singer in making her way, she adopted as her public name a feminine form of his name, Donalda.

It was in 1892 that she began studying in Paris under Duvernoy, whose deep interest in her artistic career undoubtedly smoothed over many difficulties. At Christmas in 1894, at Nice Casino, she began her first professional engagement when she was associated with Monsieur Saligne, and sang in opera for a season.

Mean-
while, Mons. Mesager, who had heard of her, Donalda in Paris, asked her to come to London to sing in grand opera, and thus promptly the young artiste stepped into the very front rank and attained the goal to which so many aspire.

This winter Miss Donalda will sing
in Grand Opera in New York until Ar-ril, when she returns to Covent Garden for a second engagement, and after a concert tour of Germany will finish the year at the Opera Comique in Paris.

She was to sing in Montreal this week. Their Excellencies, the Earl and Countess of Gray and suite going especially to Montreal for the concert. In an interview given at Montreal the Irish young singer said:

"I never had the slightest notion I could sing, until I assisted at a little entertainment given in this city by the Rev. Dr. De Soia. Mrs. Clarence Le Soia told me after the affair that I had a voice very much out of the ordinary, and offered to take me to the Royal Victoria College to get the opinion of Miss Lichtenstein. You can imagine how delighted I was as I rushed eagerly home to tell it all in one breath; but still I had no great hopes.
Miss Lichtenstein gave me every encouragement and not long after I went to New York with Mrs. R. Lennin to meet some of the operatic managers, especially Walter Damrosch.

That was the worst set back of all.
He first of all refused to see me, and when I summoned all my courage and almost forced myself in to see him, with my letter of introduction, he told it up and told me he was pestered by hundreds of girls like myself who believed they could sing. I was completely discouraged, and decided that it was no use and that there was no chance for me."

Miss Donalda paused for a moment as she thought of the pain of that discouragement, smiling a little sadly at the memory.

"I must have looked very sad," she
pened to be near at the time asked me no trouble, and when he had found out all my hopes and the greatness of my disappointment, he offered to introduce me to his impresario, Herr Goritz, to see if my voice was really worth while, and if there was a future before me. That gentleman was Kubelik."

She went on to tell how Mr. Goritz had been very much impressed by her singing and had offered to have her educated and to bring her out for the sum of $5,000.

"I told him I hadn't five thousand cent to give him," laughed the prima donna, "so there was an end of that."
She managed to meet Saligne, the impresario of the Grand Opera Company, and he gave her every encouragement, advising her to go to France and to study under Mr. Duvernoy, of Paris.

This she was finally enabled to do, studying privately in order to advance the more quickly. Her debut was made at Nice two years ago, and since then her career is a matter of common knowledge. It has been a long series of artistic triumphs.

Miss Donalda, the beautiful young singer, was married very quietly in London last spring to M. Sevelhac, one of the finest baritone in France, and who is described as a "big, good-looking, middle-aged man who speaks little English. The only witnesses at the marriage were the Hon. Mrs. Howard, Lord Strathcona's daughter, and her husband.

SOCIAL

Mrs. Banford was the hostess at an enjoyable bridge party last night.

Lady Mary Von Haast, of Vienna, will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Ferris for two weeks.

Mrs. Cautley has sent out cards for a tea on Saturday in honor of her mother, Mrs. Helliwell.

Mrs. Emery entertained "at a delightful euchre party last night. The prizes were won by Mrs. Ewing and Mrs. Braithwaite, the consolation award going to Miss Crosskill.

Society wended its way yesterday afternoon to the pretty home of Mrs.
Charles May, on Third street. Mrs.
May was assisted in receiving by her guest, Miss Boyd, and Miss Henderson. Toward the close of the function the Mayor joined the assemblage and agreeably assisted in the entertainment of the guests. After their reception in the drawing room the guests passed on to the library and dining room, where the tea table was spread. Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Riddell poured the tea and coffee, while Miss Beck, Miss Ferris, Miss McKenny, Miss McIsaac and Miss Somerville assisted with the refreshments.

The table decoration was carried out by primrose colored chrysanthemums and their green foliage. Mrs. Alex.
May served the ice cream. Among the many guests present were Mrs.
Hardisty, Mrs. John McDougall, Mrs.
Turnbull, Mrs. Harcourt, Mrs. Harrison Young, Mrs. Thibadeau, Mrs.
Mowatt, Mrs. Nightingale, Mrs. Duncan Smith, Mrs. Braithwaite, Mrs.
Norquay, Mrs. Balmer Watt, Mrs.
Saunders, Mrs. Ewing, Mrs. Lafferty,
Mrs. H. R. Smith and Mrs. Jackson.

The Misses Marjorie and Beatrice Saunders entertained a number of their young friends at an informal dance last night. About fifty guests attended. Mrs. Saunders assisted her daughters in receiving, the latter wearing pretty white organdie frocks.
Mrs. Saunders was assisted in looking after the young peoples' wants by Mrs. Hiel, Mrs. Charlesworth and Miss Harris. Mrs. Banford, Mr. Geddes, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Farmer also assisted in making the evening enjoyable. Some of the friends of the young hostesses present were Misses Joan McDonald, Miss Marjorie
Beck, Miss Annie McDougall, Aloysia
McKinney, Nora Campbell, Emily
Brown, the Misses Silas, the Misses Harris, Phyllis Barnes, Lyle Scott,
Jean Dawson, Gretna and Nesta Mercer.

CRICKET CLUB DANCE.

From the appearance at the Thistle rink a most enjoyable and popular event is going to take place there tonight.

The rink has been well prepared and presents a most comfortable and entertaining appearance. A large number of tickets have been disposed of and it is evident that the largest dance ever held in Edmonton takes place tonight. Clarke's orchestra, under the direction of Mr. J. T. Richardson, will discourse the music.
Dancing to commence promptly at 9.
Tickets can be had at the door.

FINED FOR REBATING

Bulletin Special.
New York, Nov. 22.—Judge Holt of the United States circuit court today fined the New York Central and Hudson River Railway Company, $18,000 for rebating freight charges to the American Sugar Refining Co.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S ATTITUDE
(Toronto Globe)

The determined stand taken by Newfoundland against the modus vivendi seems likely to impose some troublesome duties on the British Foreign office. The situation is by no means involved but the hostility of the colony may lead to complications. For twenty years prior to March, 1906, American fishermen had fished in the waters of Newfoundland, and had bought herring for bait along the shores. Notifications for an American reciprocity treaty were dragging along, but the failure of Congress to act on the Hay-Bond convention resulted in an abrogation of the fishing arrangement. This threw the Americans back on their strict treaty rights, which made it impossible for them to purchase herring from the settlers, to hire crews to fish for them, or to purchase gear or supplies in Newfoundland—conditions equivalent to tying up the industry, so far as the Americans were concerned.

The Gloucester captain circumvented the restrictions by inducing many willing fishermen to go outside the three-mile limit, join the American crew, and return to fish within territorial waters.
Thoroughly the Newfoundland legislature enacted a law to enforce the provisions of the treaty and keep the local fishermen at home. Negotiations between the American state department and the British foreign office for an adjustment of the dispute dragged to such a length that when it became apparent that no treaty could be agreed upon in time for this season's fishing,
the modus vivendi was signed on October 6.
This agreement, applicable only to the present fishing season, secured the Americans their rights under the treaty for 1906 and permitting them to use purses and nets to exercise practically all the privileges enjoyed prior to the recent enactment of the Newfoundland Legislature especially the right to employ colonial fishermen.

On the American side it was granted that the New England captains in hiring the colonials would make such arrangements as to observe the three-mile limit, and would not fish on Sunday.
The indignation of the colony over this arrangement was freely expressed. The press denounced the "Newfound-land for having 'sold out' the colony despite its protests. Archbishop Hawley, of St. John's called the modus viviendi a shameful betrayal, and urged resistance; the Premier declared that the colonial government had been ignored and had conceded nothing. The Legislature was suddenly called to order in January to pass new laws asserting colonial authority. The Foreign Office has naturally repudiated any desire to ignore the colonial authorities and has declared that they had been afforded every opportunity to participate. The slow certainty of British diplomacy seems in conflict with the somewhat excited sentiment of the colony. The British statesmen are inclined to prolong existing conditions for another year rather than destroy an important industry with the involved risk of precipitating international complications. We cannot be a part of a great empire without an occasional sacrifice for imperial interests, but this does not imply any willingness to surrender the principle of colonial self-government.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT The Canadian Northern Railway Company will apply to the Parliament of Canada at its next session for an Act increasing the powers of the company

MILLIONS THAT NO ONE CAN TOUCH

England is at once probably the richest and poorest country in the world. The upper classes have so much money that, in some instances, they cannot find use for it, while the lower classes have so little that many find it impossible to keep body and soul together, and die in sheer want of sustenance. Apart from these facts, however, a good deal of interest attaches to what we may term the "waste money" in that country. Those who have not looked into the matter can have no idea of the enormous sums which annually fall to the Crown for want of claimants, or from one source or another are lying waste and useless, without any ascertained ownership, and only waiting to be claimed and appropriated by the rightful owners. In one sense, ours is a veritable Tom Tiddler's ground in which many persons ought to be "picking up gold and silver." There is so much of it lying about—so many thousands of pounds "going-a-begging"—that in which pigs ran about ready roasted, with a knife and fork exclaiming, "Come eat me." We none of us know what, in the shape of a golden wind fall, a day may bring forth. Unclaimed money arises from many sources. There are dormant funds in chancery, unclaimed Government stock and dividends, unclaimed dividends of bankrupt estates, intestate estates reverting to the Crown, Army and Navy prize-money, soldiers' unclaimed balances, etc. It is not surprising, therefore, that inquiries are continually being made for the owners of this hidden wealth. There are many instances of money having been recovered from the Crown, Chancery, and other Government departments. Some of these claims occur in most romantic ways. For instance, the story of a miser's estate, is worth telling at length. Sir Thomas Colby, who was an official high in office shortened his existence by his passion for this world's goods. It is recorded that he rose in the middle of the night, when he was in a very profuse perspiration, and walked downstairs to look for the key of his cellar, which he had inadvertently left on a table in his dining-room. He was afraid that his servants might seize the key and rob him of a bottle of wine, instead of which he himself was seized with a chill, and died intestate, leaving over £220,000 in the funds which was shared by five day laborers, who were found to be his next-of-kin.

The heir to a great fortune stated to be over £1,000,000, was discovered in the little mining village of Tow Law, in Durham, two years ago. The fortunate heir was Joseph Richardson, a miner and publican. He had an uncle in Argentina of whom he had not heard for many years. A firm of London solicitors summoned Mr. Richardson to London, and when he reached the lawyers' office he was informed that his uncle had died leaving an immense fortune in the Argentine Republic. Only an unassigned will had been found, and as Mr. Richardson was the nearest relative, he was declared to be the heir. Acting on the solicitors' advice, Mr. Richardson sal-add millions that no one can touch, ed from South America to take steps to obtain possession of the property.

A remarkable piece of good fortune befell Mr. Fournier, the Paris correspondent of a London paper, in 1903. Mr. Fournier was an artist as well as a journalist, and some years ago he exhibited a portrait of Madame Sarah Bernhardt. The Comtesse de Majendie wished to acquire the portrait, and Mr. H. T. P. Barker, of Sydney, N.S.W., a multi-millionaire, also desired to possess it. This led to an acquaintance between all three. Mr. Fournier became engaged to the daughter of the Comtesse de Majendie. Mr. Barker, who came to Rennes to reside, contracted typhoid fever and died. Mr. Barker's solicitor shortly afterwards wrote to Mr. Fournier informing him that he was heir to a million and a half sterling, and that, in addition, Mr. Barker had left him an estate in Westmoreland.

A commercial traveller named Boubet, who resided in Paris last year, has recently been left a fortune of £400,000. M. Boubet supported a blind father, who lived with him on a very slender income. One day on returning from a round of visits to his customers, M. Boubet was informed that two gentlemen had called to see him. They had refused to state their business, stating that they would call again. They did so, and one of them proved to be a notary from Feurs and the other the solicitor to the late Marchioness de Vigner. They informed the astonished M. Boubet that he was entitled to the sum of £400,000, left by the Marchioness. The lucky heir so little expected the windfall that he thought the two men were hoaxing him. But it appeared that the Marchioness died at the age of 81, leaving an estate valued at £520,000, including an annuity of £1,500 for the upkeep of her stables, and a legacy of £2,000 to the town of Feurs, besides other legacies. She had no near relatives, and the notary, after investigation, discovered that the nearest relation was a cousin, three degrees removed, named Boubet. It was necessary to show M. Boubet the written proofs of his inheritance before he could believe that the fortune had reverted to him.

The year 1903 dawned under exceptionally happy circumstances on seven persons in Hull, all in humble position, who, with nine relatives living in the United States, were about to be heirs to a fortune of £250,000. This sum represented the estate of Robert Dinwiddie, an uncle of the legatees, who died in New York. Mr. Dinwiddie was originally a butter in Edinburgh, which town he left some thirty or forty years ago, for America. Of frugal habits, and a bachelor, he contrived to save sufficient money to purchase an hotel. Prosperity increased with years and he was in time possessed of three estates in the vicinity of New York City. All that his relatives in Hull knew of him was that he was very rich. The news of their good fortune was brought to them by one of the nephews and a legate, who was a sailor on board a liner which traded between Hull and New York. The matter was placed in the hands of a firm of solicitors, and the subsequent inquiries left no doubt as to the reality and extent of the wealth that had fallen to the lucky heirs.

A middle-aged working woman quite unexpectedly came into a windfall of $500,000 in 1904. She had been engaged to a junior clerk, but they drifted apart. She married and never heard of her former lover again. The clerk, in the course of years, became rich. Dying a bachelor, he left by his will a fortune to be equally divided between his old, forgotten love and some relations. Exhaustive enquiries led to the discovery of the whereabouts of the woman.

There was great rejoicing in Barcelona last Christmas when the prizes in the State lottery were won. The first prize was divided into ten shares, one of which was won by a fishmonger, and another by a coffee-house keeper, who each received $120,000. As yet the second prize of $600,000 is unclaimed.

About fifty years ago a poor man named Robert Higgins left Rathana-gan, in Ireland, for America, and settled in New York as a malster, where he became very prosperous and died in January, 1885, at the age of seventy-five, leaving about $150,000. Inquiries showed that his nearest relatives were three cousins, who were persons in humble circumstances. A solicitor was successful in recovering the money for them, and from a position of poverty they were lifted into one of affluence.

The result of an inquiry as to the claims to the assets of the late James Edward, a rich Dublin confectioner, was made known in 1885. Mr. Edwards died worth nearly £90,000, but, being illegitimate and having left a large family, his property undivided of that part, will the Crown in respect of that part, became his heirs. This windfall for the State was estimated at no less than $36,000.

ZAM-BUK A CERTAIN CURE

For chapped hands, cold sores, chilblains, etc., there is nothing so effective as Zam-Buk. Mrs. H. H. Rankin, of Appleton, Ont., says:—"My hands had big cracks on them which caused me such pain I could hardly work. Whenever I tried to put them near water they would smart and burn as if I had scalded them. They did not seem to be benefited by anything I tried until Zam-Buk was introduced. To my great pleasure within a very short time Zam-Buk closed up the cracks and healed the sore places. My hands are now white and smooth."

"I recommended Zam-Buk to a friend, who had a sore finger, and it cured that, too. I think it is a splendid household ointment."

Miss E. Helntzman, of Ossington Avenue, Toronto, says:—"I would advise all who suffer from Chilblains to try Zam-Buk. I have suffered from them acutely, and was suffering when I first tried Zam-Buk. I am pleased to say I had only used about three-quarters of the supply when the chilblains were completely cured."

Zam-Buk is the cure for cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, ulcers, abscesses, festering sores, bad leg, ringworm, and all skin diseases and injuries. It is purely herbal in composition. All druggists sell at 50c a box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto upon receipt of price, 6 boxes for $2.50. ## NO COUNTRY LIKE CANADA

(Montreal Herald)
Mr. Hance J. Logan, M.P. for Cumberland in the Dominion House, who returned Sunday in the steamer Victorian from a three months' trip to the mother country where he was under the treatment of an eye specialist, states that Canada occupies a good deal larger place in the minds of the English people than it did on the occasion of his last visit four years ago.

Mr. Logan who spent several months in the hospital at Ottawa last year, is now better in health, but how far he has benefited from the treatment of the eye specialist he can hardly yet say. He was ill for some weeks in London, but recovered during the latter part of his stay and was able to see a good deal of the country. Mr. Logan remarked in the course of an interview with the Herald that the greatly increased stake that the British capitalists and investors have now acquired in Canada has considerably broadened the interest felt in the Dominion. There could be no doubt whatever that Canada today stood higher in the estimation of the English people than the United States or Australia or any other land inhabited by the English speaking race.

Speaking of the question of tariff reform, Mr. Logan thinks that the feeling in favor of protection is growing, but it is that aspect of protection which would prevent other countries from dumping their own manufactured products on the British market and thus disturbing the manufacturing conditions of country, causing the partial shutting down of factories and a reduction of employment.

Of that other aspect of it which was implied in Mr. Chamberlain's imperial Reference policy which would give to the colonies an advantage in the matter of wool products—grain and so forth—it could not be said that there was any growth of public opinion in its favor. It was obvious that what the masses were afraid of in the imposition of a small tax on grain against foreign countries was the fear that it would result in an increase in the price of food without any guarantee of a corresponding increase in wages.

"Supposing the United Kingdom should adopt such a measure of protection as would give her own manufactures an advantage in her own markets against the foreign, I fail to see where it would benefit Canada, unless it is accompanied by a preference to what we produce within the Empire, and of that I do not see any indication."

Mr. Chamberlain has been very ill for some time but he is now practically convalescent, I understand, and it is his purpose to renew his campaign.

Mr. Logan remarked that there was every indication of a keen conflict between the Lords and the Commons over the education bill, as the result of the Lords having thrown out the bill on the principle of the majority. The result of the bill, which would be decided upon by public authorities of all money voted by the public for the support of the schools. What the result of the impending conflict might be Mr. Logan did not venture to predict.

With regard to the split between the Liberals and the Labor party in the House of Commons which is now attracting a good deal of attention, Mr. Logan said that it was particularly noticeable in the Government and the Socialistic wing of the Labor party which is under Mr. Keir Hardie's leadership. The relations between the Government and the Labor party were that under Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's leadership are not cordial. They are interested in being left in the approaching Imperial conference, and resolutions with regard to it are being passed by clubs and other bodies.

Altogether Mr. Logan returns from his tour with the firm conviction that there is no country in the world like Canada.

EXCEPTIONS PROVE THE RULE

Successful Men Give Particular Attention to Dress and Address.

To increase or emphasize individuality is to make a man noticed. In these strenuous days a man who is favorably noticed is on the high road to success. All successful men are well dressed, and dress so as to accentuate their individuality. The exceptions only prove the rule.

Being well dressed does not mean that a man must be dandy. Few dandies are well dressed. In the book, "Manners and Modes for Men," there are numerous suits and suggestions for various occasions and occasions. Published by the Semi-Ready Company, these booklets may be had from any Semi-Ready Wardrobe. Semi-Ready tailoring is a system for correct form and natural style. Their 12 and 14 suits and overcoats are not any better tailored than their $15 garment.

"Get an advance, skin the shoes, or lose money!" This was the slogan of the American shoe manufacturer at the opening of the season.

Canadians who buy imported shoes pay one dollar duty, a quarter of a dollar more in higher wages, or $1.25 in all for their lack of perception. They fine themselves 33 1/3 per cent and get shoes which the made-in-Canada shoe can defeat on even terms in foreign markets.

Then the imported shoe may have been "skinned" of value to partly meet that handicap of $1.25.

Follow the shoe market, and you will find that the honest United States shoe manufacturer has either withdrawn from the Canadian shoe market or raised his price too high.

Money cannot buy, nor can artisan devise a better shoe than that upon which are stamped this "Seal of Certainty!"

Vegreville News.

Vegreville, Nov. 21.—Ara Elsey of Pahan, who was working on the G.T. R. Ry. near Ribstone Lake, lost a team of horses last July and did not get any trace of them until this week. He is on his way to Mr. Lyons where the horses were located.

The mail service as usual: The local paper is put on the train for Lavoie a distance of ten miles. Instead of putting the mail off at Lavoie it is carried to Butteford. Sometimes it is returned and sometimes never turns up. Surely the service could be managed to better advantage.

Mr. C. W. McKiver of the Alberta Land and Loan Co., here returns to Kansas city for the winter.

Mr. Hower of Hairy Hill was in town and reported having caught two cross foxes with his hounds.

David McFarlane of Warlock is raising hares with the coyotes. He rides horseback and easily overtakes Mr. Coyote in this soft snow.

Mr. Thomas having disposed of his farm intends to go north for the winter. While Mrs. Thomas will go to the States for some time for the benefit of her health.

Mr. Henry Monkman of Whiteford, visited town recently and though nearly eighty years of age is as smart as a cricket in July.

The town of Vegreville is still forging ahead. The coal mine of 9 feet of hard coal and 2 feet of soft coal will greatly increase the possibilities of the future of Vegreville. If the gas that was struck some time ago is developed it will also add to the resources of the town.

Vegreville with its fine natural resources of coal, gas and oil does not need any false booming. The town is a year old and has a population of 1,000. There are three churches, five general stores, two bakeries, two blacksmith shops, two hotels, four butchershops, four real estate offices, one drug store, two doctors, two implement agencies, two photo galleries, one hospital and a new brick-veneer four room public school in town.

The town council contemplate building a fine fire hall in the near future. The local sports are organizing a brass band.

James Harrison of this town lately of England, who has invested largely in land around Vegreville through the Alberta Land & Loan Co., leaves for Edmonton to try his luck at real estate in the city.

The C.N.R. is making a number of changes in Vegreville owing to the expansion of business. The station proper is too small to cope with the trade and night and day operators have been put on the site. New freight sheds are to be built and the station platform is to be enlarged.

The new elevator owned by the British American Elevator Co. is near completion and together with others owned by Messrs W. Parker and D. R. Davis & Co. will handle all grain.

The second town pump is 115 feet down with the prospects of a good flow.

Red Deer Notes

Communicated.

Red Deer, Nov. 22.—The Roseland Opera company played "Martha" in a fairly large and very appreciative audience last night.

A meeting of the Alberta Union of Municipalities will be held in Red Deer on January 8th.

Bills are out for a bazaar to be given in the Oddfellows hall on the 8th by the Ladies' Guild of St. Luke's church.

The skating rink opens tonight.

R. A. Shular, of Blackfalds, has been in town for the past couple of days.

F. H. Fallman has consented to run for alderman.

At the council meeting Thursday, it was moved by Ald. Botterill, seconded by Ald. Stephenson that the solicitor be instructed to have bylaw No. 5 further amended at once so as to prohibit all slot machines and gambling devices of every kind.—Carried.

The Red Deer News advocates the formation of a 20,000 club for Red Deer.

Dr. R. Sandiman, of Pine Lake, has been in town for the past few days.

W. Riley of the Merchants Bank returned from Lacombe on last evening's train.

A bunch of about sixty railroad navvies were in town yesterday. We understand they are a gang from the Stettler branch and are on strike.

A. L. Powne, of Ewing, is again in town. Mr. Powne has just returned from a very successful trip to the city of Winnipeg, where he disposed of another large bunch of cattle. He says that the market is getting better all the time.

C. E. Strickland at one time accountant in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Red Deer and later manager of a bank that institution in L'Oranger, has been appointed manager of the Northern Bank in this city.

NEW YORK COLLISION.

New York, Nov. 22.—The North German Lloyd steamer Main, which arrived here today from Bremen, came into collision with the Schooner May Neville in the lower harbor, on her way to der dock. Five plates in the side of the Main above the water line were stove in and the schooner lost her bowsprit and headgear. The Main returned to quarantine and the schooner was towed up the harbor.

THE PROPOSED PACKING PLANT.

Editor Bulletin—

Dear Sir:

On reading your issue of the 21st inst., I notice J. G. Dwyer's proposition was before the city council and it induced that honorable body to treat his proposition hardly in the ordinary way. It seems to me that the city council on this occasion did no case in the situation broadly enough.

Now, what has been the cry of this country and city? Has it not been for more manufacturers? Can any one of our city council name a manufacturer that a packing plant will take second place to. In this case the proposition is no mean one, but one that shall be credit and benefit to the city, and one which the country demands at the present time and must have. I think it would be well for the city of Edmonton to study the situation of the country a little more and build a more solid foundation for the future. Our country is a good one and produces extra fine products and is filling up fast, but let us remember the day will come when the immigrants will not be so numerous as they are at the present time and money may not be so loose as now. At the present time we are producing more oats and wheat than we can consume. Our rail haul is a long one and takes away most of the profit. We have proved that we can raise hogs in this country but the only trouble was that we could not get a market if we raised a large quantity. Now a proposition has come to our door that proposes to do away with this danger of producing more than we can market. I understand that it is proposed to extend the water to the city park next year and if that is the case, why lay full stress of cost on this proposal? I understand that the packing establishment will be only about three quarters of a mile away. Also two suppose it will be the most natural place for manufacturers, stocks yards for the Grand Trunk Railway. If the water is there, they will spring up a great deal quicker. This man has shown that he is a business man; he bought his site and in so doing he showed his wisdom by going a proper distance.

By the way, we have another proposition. A proposition to start a brewery—how was it received?

An I read your paper I see that time was spent in hunting and selecting a site, light and water to be extended, and behold your sewer service to the plant, but the excuse, it is in the city limits, though a long way off—good encouragement indeed to an industry that will make a man incapable of any kind of business.

No sewerage was asked for by Mr. Dwyer. He offered to put up bonds to prove his good faith; has Mr. Kerr been asked to do so. Now if the council has in their hands adopted a policy to toms no one, it might be a good act to withdraw it, as they do in some towns when they want to put a frame house on a front street. I think the city has arrived when we should begin to look at things in a broader light and build up resources of income that shall keep the city going, and if this proposition is turned down, who is going to bother again.

The extra number of hogs that will be raised in the country, and most of the money will be spent in Edmonton, will build the water mains and supply the light inside of eighteen months, then what have we got?—one of the best factories in Canada.

Now, Mr. Editor, pardon me for intruding on your valuable space.

T. DALY.

VISCOUNT HAMPTON DEAD.

London, Nov. 22.—Henry Robert Brand, second Viscount Hampton, is dead. He was born in 1841.

INTERESTED IN LAKE ST. JOHN RAILWAY.

Quebec, Nov. 22.—It is rumored in Quebec that Mackenzie and Mann intend have obtained a large block of Quebec and Lake St. John railway stock held at Montreal, which will give them control of the Quebec local enterprise.

FLOOR GAVE WAY.

Tilsburg, Nov. 22.—During an auction sale on the farm occupied by Eli Brown, just east of here, the barn floor gave way, carrying a number of men with horses, rigs, etc., to the stable below. Quite a number were hurt and L. Neiks and W. L. Penn are believed to be seriously injured.

SWITCHMEN WON.

Minneapolis, Nov. 22.—The Switchmen of North America have won their fight in the case against the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway, securing an advance in salary amounting in some instances to seven cents, while the minimum is four cents. The victory means that there is no longer any danger of a general strike of the switchmen.

ORIENTAL TRADE

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 20.—An interesting report was received this morning from Alexander MacLean, Canadian agent at Yokohama. He says that the general grain crop of Japan shows an increase of twenty-three million bushels. A syndicate of Japanese is promoting grinding of wheat, but a large importing firm is recommending dealers to take up Canadian flour.

Importation of flour from Canada for nine months were only valued at $2,015, but this is double the importations of the previous year.

Exports of tea to Canada for nine months totaled 2,304,620 pounds, a decrease of 700,000 as compared with the corresponding period.

BOMB OUTRAGE.

Rome, Nov. 18.—A bomb was exploded in St. Peter's today. The edifice was crowded and an indescribable scene of confusion followed. There were no fatalities. As soon as the echoes of the tremendous roar had ceased, a canon sought by reassuring words to quiet the people but in vain. They fled in all directions, and a number of women fainted. Women and children screamed and men tried to protect their families in the crush. The church was so large however that there was ample room for the crowd to scatter, and no one was injured. No trace of the perpetrator of the deed has been found.

Since St. Annetta, who was ordained by Peter himself, erected an oratory in St. Peter's, on the site of the present basilica, it was the spot where the remains of St. Peter are buried, no such disaster occurred in the history of the church. Today was the anniversary of the dedication of the basilica to St. Peter, and it was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Holy relics were exposed and a large number of the faithful attended the service. Cardinal Rampoldi, formerly papal secretary of state, was among those present. He took part in the service in the oratory. The last mass had just been concluded when the explosion occurred and only one canon, who had not quite finished, remained at the altar of St. Petronilla. This altar is at the end of the right aisle and it was near here that the bomb had been placed. As the canon turned to bless the communicants there was a tremendous roar, which echoed through the lofty arches of the immense dome like a thunder clap. At the same time a dense smoke spread throughout this portion of the basilica and a strong odor of gunpowder filled the air.

Confusion and panic at once seized the people. The canon at the altar tried to stem the tide of fear. He shouted out: "Do not be afraid, it is nothing; merely the Monday gun." His words however had little effect. They were rebuffed by the smoke and the pungent smell of powder, and the people continued their headlong flight. Chairs were overturned, the confusion more serious. Men and women fled, stumbling in all directions, and the screams of children and cries of anguish were heard on all sides, and for a few moments it seemed as if nothing could obviate a grave disaster. The vast size of the church, however, saved it from the fate of St. Peter's, and at the end of a few moments the people were surging toward the doors, excited and nervous, but orderly.

As soon as the smoke cleared away a hasty examination showed that nobody had been hurt in the crash, and furthermore, that no one had been wounded by the explosion. Calm was gradually restored and people returned to view the extent of the damage. It was discovered that the bomb had been placed under the scaffolding which had been erected to facilitate repairs to the roof exactly over the celebrated tomb of Clement XIII by Canova, which consists of a figure of the pope and two lions, and which is the most remarkable piece of sculpture in the basilica. This tomb ranks among the finest efforts of modern sculptors. When the first gendarmes reached the spot the scaffolding was found to be smoldering, but this fire was easily extinguished. The tomb was found to be absolutely unharmed, and even on the pavement there were scarcely any signs of the explosion. An examination of the tomb leads to the supposition, unless it was cruelly unprepared to be absolutely unharmed, and even on the pavement there were scarcely any signs of the explosion. An examination of the tomb leads to the supposition, unless it was cruelly unprepared to be absolutely unharmed, and even on the pavement there were scarcely any signs of the explosion.

The pope was engaged in his regular noon hour devotions when the bomb went off. He heard a muffled sound which aroused him but did not alarm him. Monsignor Miscatelli, sub-prefect of the apostolic palaces, Monsignor Bisleti and Major Domo, of the Vatican, at once hurriedly entered the pontiff's chamber. They were so pale that the pope immediately asked: "What has happened?"

"Do not be alarmed, holy father," was the answer. "A bomb has exploded in the basilica, but fortunately there are no deaths to deplore and no one has been wounded." The pontiff asked anxiously if the church had been injured. On being assured, he fell on his knees, saying he must implore mercy for the misguided perpetrator of the deed.

THE SASKATCHEWAN FUEL Famine

Indian Head, Sask., Nov. 17.—The gravity of the fuel situation is readily apparent here when it is realized that last year at this date there was in stock probably a thousand tons of coal. Today there is not a ton of coal. A local dealer has practically all the coal he needs for his business. The electric power house and the grist mill are the only plants in the town that are not out of coal. Both these places had laid in a big stock in anticipation of a shortage. Many residents have also received fuel coal sufficient for some weeks, but the poor man's coal, the soft, is practically all. All the soft coal for the coal trade is supposed to come from the Galt and Taber mines. With the sudden advent of the big drop in temperature unless something is done within the next forty-eight hours to relieve the situation Indian Head will be up against the worst fuel famine experienced in her history.

Prince Albert, Sask., Nov. 17.—Prince Albert being at the edge of the northern timber belt has been only slightly affected by the coal shortage, the big lumber mills, the grist mill, the electric light plant, and, in fact, all the steam powers in the city use wood for fuel and the coal imported has been only three or four cars a year for domestic use, from Lethbridge, Edmonton sending a small quantity. At present there is not a pound of coal for sale in the city, agents being obliged to cease taking orders a month ago. Pennsylvania coal is now on rail for the city, but will cost at least $12 per ton against $8, which was paid for the Lethbridge article.

Estevan, Sask., Nov. 16.—As far as Estevan is concerned there is no shortage of coal as the neighborhood abounds with good stuff, but there is a good deal of complaint from the neighboring towns and villages on account of the shortage of coal, both from the shortage of cars and from all the mines being taxed to their utmost capacity to supply the local trade. At this time of year, as farmers from 25 miles around are bringing in their wheat and returning with their winter's supply of coal. On account of the elevator being crowded the farmers are compelled to store the grain outside or in outhouses in order to get home again. This works hardship, but the blockade will be somewhat relieved now as there is an order from the C.N.R. to load all foreign cars for Duluth. There is no coal consumed here from the west except by the C.P.R. At the present time a storm is raging from the northeast.

POLICY HOLDERS WANT CHANGES.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—The Policy Holders' Association of Canada with a membership of 500, representing over fifty centres of population in the Dominion, will memorialize the insurance commission to the effect that, numerous complaints are offered that many companies are opposed to the principle of sound insurance, and should be restricted. Alternatively no form of policy should be used by any life insurance company in Canada without having first been approved of by the superintendent of insurance. The memorialists further suggest that the commission should recommend the following:

(a) That all policies should be set forth tersely and in plain terms. (b) That all conditions should be printed on the face of the policy. (c) That a complete application should be attached thereto. (d) That under no consideration should the face value of the policy be reduced.

An amendment should be made to the present act, providing that after the payment of the third premium, no policy shall lapse by reason of non-payment of premiums until the value of such policy is exhausted. The memorialists believe that the acceptance by the companies of notes issued by the superintendent of insurance in settlement of premiums is a debit in the balance sheet of the company, and that the companies are responsible for the excessive expense and lapses of first years business. The expense of the insurance companies should be limited to the lowering of premiums. The rate charged by the insurance companies on all plans of insurance should be first approved by the superintendent of insurance. Subject to the safeguards hereafter suggested, the memorialists have no objection to the present plan of the life insurance companies, but restrictions shall be made as to the proportion to be invested in one class of securities. Memorialists suggest that for the better security of policy holders and a safeguard against unauthorized investments and other securities should be deposited in the custody of the superintendent of insurance together with schedules showing the conditions in full under which such investments have been made. All investments should be taken in the name of the company, in any event a full report should be sent to the superintendent of insurance at least once a month, and such returns published regularly in the Gazette. Policy holders should be represented on every board and on all investment and finance committees.

EAST ENDERS ADOPT PLATFORM

Organize Canvas and Arrange Meetings for Next Week—Committee Rooms Secured

The organization committee of the East end ticket met in the International hotel, Kinistino avenue, last night and besides formulating a platform, secured permanent committee rooms and arranged for meetings to open the campaign.

The campaign headquarters will be in Agar's new hardware store building, Namayo avenue, where the committee announce that they will hold nightly sessions.

The first public meeting of the campaign will be held on Thursday evening next, when the candidates for mayor, Ald. Bellamy and Griesbach, will be invited to address the electors. On the same evening an overflow meeting will be held in Paul Rudyk's hall, next to the International hotel, the candidates for aldermen adjourning thereto after they have addressed the main meeting.

The following is the platform adopted by the East-enders—

PLATFORM.

In the outset we wish to state that we charge no man with dishonesty.

We intend to enter this campaign dispassionately and without prejudice.

We believe that certain abuses have crept into the administration of city affairs, which we propose, if elected, to remedy.

We believe that the root of the evils in the city hall, and a misinterpretation of the principles on which the commissioner system is founded.

We believe that the time has arrived in the growth of the city when the officers of secretary-treasurer and commissioner should be separated.

Regarding the competency of the present secretary-treasurer in that capacity, we do not feel called upon to express an opinion at the present time.

We believe that the municipal enterprises are not being conducted on proper lines.

As a remedy we propose that two commissioners entirely separate from the clerical force of the city hall should be employed. In the hands of one of these we propose that the entire municipal enterprises shall be placed; he to act as controller of these enterprises, to conduct, control and operate them in the same way that he would as an employee of a private company, and that reports should be made from month to month showing the receipts, expenditures, extensions, applications for extensions and the necessities for the further investment of capital, so that the council, and through them the public, may know the exact state of the public enterprises at all times.

We regard the piece meal system of financing public enterprises as being founded on poor business principles. We consider that in founding the tramway system—its largest municipal enterprise—good business principles require that sufficient capital should be furnished by the city at the outset. We consider that a by-law for sufficient capital for the entire undertaking should be submitted at once, instead of following the present unbusiness-like method of submitting a series of by-laws, the defeat of any one of which would wreck the whole enterprise.

The second commissioner, we consider, should be placed in the position of administering the other public works, such as streets, sidewalks, paving, public buildings, etc., etc., and that he should account monthly to the council for all work done, so that the council might know, and through them the public, at all times, the extent of the work under way, the cost and the extent of the demands made for local improvements and public works of all kinds.

We point to the fact that there are provisions in the charter covering the matter of local improvements and we submit that these improvements should be carried out as a matter of detail in the order in which the petitions are received, instead of being submitted separately to the council and made to take up the time of the aldermen to the displacement of more important matters.

The third commissioner, who is the mayor, should, we consider, be the connecting link between the council which is elective, and the commissioner, which is appointive. We consider that the mayor, as chief commissioner, should be the party to submit to the council the findings of the commissioner and that the commissioners should not be allowed to protect their personal opinions into the debates of the council.

We consider that the labor question is due to be one of the most important questions facing the city in the year 1907 and as a solution we will guarantee, if elected, that the adopted union wages and hours will be the wages and hours of the city employees. This will apply to all public works, whether contract or otherwise.

We believe that the time has arrived in the affairs of the city when an industrious committee should be formed from the council board to undertake the work heretofore relegated to the board of trade.

We believe that there is no work of civic importance undertaken by the board of trade that could not better be carried out by such an industries committee.

We believe that every effort should be made to encourage the establishment of industrial enterprises in the city.

We believe that the fire by-law should be carried out to the letter and the fire limits extended at once.

We are in favor of proper sanitary regulations, and the enforcement of the sanitary by-laws now on the books.

We are wedded to the principle of municipal ownership and believe that the city should part with no franchise that can be operated as a public enterprise.

LAKE ONTARIO WRECK

Toronto, Nov. 22.—The steam barge Resolute, of Toronto, coming from Erie to this port with a load of coal, sank within a mile of the western gap at 3.30 this morning, and it is probable that six of her crew are drowned. She arrived on Tuesday night and lay in shelter under the point, and then started up the lake and tried to get into port on Wednesday. Captain John Sullivan, of political fame, came ashore in a boat and then decided there was not enough water to permit the big vessel to make harbor. He decided to try to make the eastern gap, but found the sea too high, and while trying to reach his former place of shelter, the barge opened up and went to the bottom. She is completely submerged, her masts alone showing.

The crew of eleven men took to the boats in an attempt to make land, and one succeeded, but the other was probably lost as six of the crew are accounted for. Capt. Sullivan was the last to leave the doomed boat. He jumped overboard on a piece of wreckage, and while floating about in the water he saw one of the men who left in the row-boats and tried to save him, but the man had not strength enough to hang on and was drowned. Capt. Sullivan reached shore near the Northern elevators at about 4 o'clock, almost exhausted.

The barge P. B. Lock was in tow of the Resolute, but she is still at anchor. Her crew were taken off by Captain Ward in his lifeboat. He is now rescuing the crew of the schooner St. Louis.

Captain Sullivan is the "Cap." famous in Ontario elections. The Resolute is owned by Haney & Miller.

WORLD'S MARKETS

New York, Nov. 22.—The discount rate of Bank of England remains unchanged and a better feeling in London than for some time prevails, the outlook for Saturday's statement is favorable and while we do not look for a rise in the money market, rates will rule much easier until the latter part of next month at any rate.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 22.—A better stock market is ahead. Easier money will remove the last obstacle to bull operations. It is good time to buy low priced stocks. Average Steel Company. Many houses are advising customers to buy R. I. common.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 22.—U. S. Steel earnings for the month of November estimated at $13,500,000. October earnings were $11,500,000. This makes earnings of two months $25,000,000 compared with $24,227,000 for corresponding period a year ago and $15,000,000 same period of 1904. It is very evident that there is no let up in the prosperity of the steel business, with the earnings here recorded it seems a practical certainty that dividends on the Common will be increased again. There was never such a combination of investment and speculation as there shall be in Steel Common.

New York, Nov. 22.—While there may be a little irregularity in this market today we do not look for so much uncertainty that the good market judges and speculators in general count on a few winners. We are bullish on Sugar, S.P., Rdg. and the Steels. Many insiders are buying these specialties and will continue to do so until they see the prices on a level with others at the same class. Rock Island has only begun to feel the constant flow of business that they have been getting and with big earnings rolling in they are bound to go up and all little dips. Be SURE and hold some Brooklyn it will sell much higher in the near future.

New York, Nov. 22.—The power price of Minneapolis and Industrials will in our opinion prove the most profitable field for operations of the long side, at higher. We advise their purchase and put out the signal for considerable buy in that stock and a good advance was scored. The buying of the steel was of the best character.

Minneapolis, Nov. 22.—The bears yielded the market and forced a lift in the decline. Offerings are light and with a little outside help the market could easily advance. The bears are pounding wheat but

LORDS AND COMMONS AT LOGGERHEADS

Bulletin Special.

London, Nov. 22.—On the ground that it contained the spirit of Home Rule, the House of Lords this evening struck out the clause in the education bill empowering the establishment of a central educational council for Wales. This bill was then passed through its committee stage after having occupied fifteen days in discussion, or longer than any other previous measure in the House of Lords. As amended by the upper house, the bill is wholly unacceptable to the Government and the majority in the House of Commons who contend that it has become frankly denominational since it requires that unless religious instruction be given to them daily, schools will be recognized as public elementary schools.
